New Plaza Celebration Is Planned

Menlo Park's second free public parking plaza will be ready for use some time next week, City Manager C. L. Longson said Tuesday.

At the same time it was revealed that the new merchants committee of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce, under Chairman Milton Sheldrick, is planning a community celebration for official opening of the facility.

Final paving for the new lot, as well as for the alleys being constructed in the rear of stores on both sides of Santa Cruz avenue, began last Monday. This task should be finished before Saturday, Longson said. Cleaning up and painting of traffic lanes will be undertaken immediately after the weekend, he added.

The new plaza is situated in the block bounded by Santa Cruz and Oak Grove avenues and University drive and Crane street, two blocks west of the first old plaza, which was opened in 1948.

It will have an estimated capacity of 270 cars, whereas the first plaza holds about 200, Longson said.

Planners Shift Hearing Dates

A legal quorum of the members of the Menlo Park Planning Commission will not be in town for hearings on the city's proposed master plan Aug. 11 and Aug. 18 and hearings which have been scheduled for those dates have been deferred.

Commission Chairman Charles Andrews explained the situation at Monday night's hearing on the plan:

Three members of the commission plan to be absent from the city during both of those weeks; hence, the second hearing on the proposed plan for the central business district has been reset from Aug .11 to Aug. 25 and a second hearing on proposed rezoning of commercial property east of Middlefield road will be held at a later date.

Report of New Bank Here Called Premature

The American Trust company's plans to construct a bank on Oak Grove avenue between Hoover and Chestnut streets are far from complete.

This was indicated by Polk Dodson, vice president of the firm and manager of the Palo Alto branch.

Dodson told the Recorder yesterday that "we have no way of knowing when construction will begin, and plans for such a building have not even reached the planning board stage."

The bank head said the firm has not had an opportunity to place such a plan before city planners for their approval, but expects to ask their advice on the matter "as soon as possible."

'PARKING AREA'

Under the proposed city master plan, the bank's property is designated to become parking area and any variance from the master plan must meet approval of the planning commission.

Charles Andrews, chairman of the planning commission, stated "the future of the downtown business district is based on the master plan an that is all there is to it."

Along that line, Dodson told the Recorder yesterday, "we have no wishes to go contrary to Menlo Park and its master plan. What was announced concerning personnel in

ATHERTON, TOO

Atherton's planning commission this week turned down an informal request by "one of the large San Francisco banks" to build a branch on Atherton land at the corner of Valparaiso avenue and El Camino Real.

William Tyler, chairman of the Atherton planners, told the bank that zoning restrictions in Atherton would not permit the construction of a bank or any other kind of business.

School Budget Hearing Set For Tomorrow

Calling for abudget of $577,162, the Menlo Park Elementary School District has set 8 p. m. tomorrow, Aug. 1, as date for public hearing on its proposed financial blueprint for the coming year.

The budget is to finance instruction of an estimated 1900 pupils who will attend the five schools of the district; included in it is $4000 for "food service." Teachers' salaries are expected to amount to $318,262.

Income of the district is expected as follows:

Net balance at he beginning of the 1952-53 school year, $36,980; state average daily attendance apportionments, $204,496; state apportionments for current growth, $42,559; state appertionments for transportation, $2172; other income, $1575; delinquent taxes, $750; district taxes on unsecured property, $6334; current district taxes required, $282,296.

Besides the teachers' salaries and food service items in the budget, expenditures are expected to include:

Totals of $21,545 for administration; $18,485 for other salaries of instruction; $25,262 for other expenses of instruction; $7630 for auxiliary services; $45,000 for plant operation; $30,940, school maintenance; $12,378, fixed charges; $10,965, pupil transportation.

A total of $3500 for community services; $42,065 for capital outlay; $13,703 for annual repayment of school building apportionment; $1000 for transfers and $16,292, undistributed reserve.

City Issues 60 Building Permits

City Building Inspector J. D. Steiger announced yesterday that 60 permits, authorizing a total of $253,800 worth of construction, were issued by the city during July.

As he prepared to close his books for the month, he compared the figure with that for the same month last year: 46 permits, authorizing $321,800 worth of building, were issued then.

Small projects made up most of this month's building. There were 34 residence alteration projects, with an aggregate value of $83,000, authorized, while permits for only nine new residences, with a total valuation of $118,000, were given.

During the same month last year, 20 new homes were authorized.

Other permits listed this month included those for 14 new nonresidences, $41,400, and three nonresidential alterations, $10,500.

City Proposal for Residential Areas West of Middlefield Come Under Fire

City planning commissioners Monday night heard protests from developers of the Linfield Oaks tract and from a scattering of affected homeowners, at the commission's hearing on master plan proposals for the residential areas of the city west of Middlefield road.

The hearing, in contrast to some previous ones, was well ordered. It was completed shortly after 11 p. m. Many members of the audience of about 150, which met at the Burgess park Little theater, had been at previous hearings to protest other sections of the plan.

C. T. Lindsay, representing the developers of the Linfield Oaks area, explained his company's stand: The company is concerned over the proposed realignment of Willow road and the "switching" of certain single-family and multi-family dwelling areas.

He said that the firm feels that, if Willow is realigned to cross and re-cross San Francisquito creek, as in the proposed extension to Sandhill

Amendments Proposed to Meet Protests Against Master Plan

City Planning Consultant Harold F. Wise Monday night moved to scotch most of the protests against the proposed master plan by presenting sweeping amendments in his previous proposed zonings in the Belle Haven area and eliminating proposed widening of Menlo and Oak Grove avenues.

The new recommendations were made pursuant of directions given by the planning commission at its informal meeting last week, and after a new "land use survey" of the Belle Haven area.

The survey in that section showed that several parcels which were untenanted when the area was first sudveyed last year have since become occupied, neessitating the change.

Main change recommended for the central business district area was the elimination of plans for widening Menlo and Oak Grove avenues by cutting 16 feet off property on the south side of the former and 13 feet off the north side of the latter. The plan also calls for adjustment of the alignment of the proposed intersection of Santa Cruz avenue and University drive.

Turning to Belle Haven, Wise's new recommendations call for retention of commercial classification of properties facing Bayshore highway which are to become a part of the freeway when the thoroughfare is widened. Rear portions of the lots, however, which will be "inside the fences" on either side of the highway, are still recommended for residential use.

According to the new proposals, the commercially - zoned property facing the north side of Willow road should be rezoned for multiple-family dwellings, except for a "neighborhood shopping" area at Willow

DOG LICENSES

A warning: Today is the last day in which Menlo Park dog-owners can acquire licenses for their pets without paying a $2 penalty fee.

After today, Poundmaster A. F. Petrucci says, he will be on the lookout not only for dogs with no licenses at all, but also for canines with last year's licenses.

Although he will have to apprehend such dogs, the poundmaster said yesterday, he doesn't really consider the animals at fault. Dogs can't buy their own licenses, unless they are unusually intelligent.

Dog owners, on the other hand, are supposed to know better, and to buy the licenses

'Major Streets and Highways' to Be Topic At Menlo Park Planners' Meeting Aug. 4

Aim of recommendations in Menlo Park's proposed master plan regarding streets and highways is "to keep through traffic out of residential areas," according to the authors of the plan.

The aim, however, is qualified by some important background material: There are 1.26 autos per family in Menlo Park and existing public transit facilities, insofar as tying the city together, "do not adequately serve Menlo Park."

The plan gives the following specific recommendations, as a means of dealing with the future's heavy traffic:

1. That building lines be established to provide widening of Bayshore highway to 250 feet; Willow road to 92 feet; Middlefield road to 100 feet; Santa Cruz avenue west of University drive to 84 feet.

2. Calls for acquisition of additional right of way to shift the present line of Ravenswood avenue to connect directly with Ringwood avenue on the east and Menlo avenue on the west.

3. It is recommended that an underpass be constructed at the Ravenswood avenue intersection of the Southern Pacific railroad tracks;

4. That an overpass be constructed on Ringwood avenue at Bayshore highway to connect Belle Haven with the rest of the city;

EXTENSION

5. That Willow road be extended from Middlefield road through Linfield Oaks and portions of Palo Alto to El Camino Real, thence across Stanford land south of San Francisquito creek to connect with Sandhill road and eventually Junipero Serra boulevard;

6. That a joint highway district be formed in order to insure construction of the latter right of way.

"Plans prepared by the state department of highways for Bayshore Freeway development represent the most advanced type of modern freeway design," the report says. "The proposed Freeway will have six lanes, each 12 feet wide, a 40-foot planting strip in the center, eight-foot parking strips and 24-foot access roads paralleling the freeway."

"Although no specific dates have been set it seems possible that this section of Bayshore Freeway could be constructed within the next five years, depending on the availability of funds.

Turning to Willow road development, the report points out:

"Willow road must be thought of as part of the regional network of major streets and highways. . . . The ultimate need for the Willow road - Sandhill road thoroughfare lies in part in the population that will fill in the footihill country behind Menlo Park and Stanford university in the years ahead . . .

LARGE POPULATION

"Ultimately developed, it is anticipated that the Stanford lands (to be developed) wil contain a population of approximately 45,000 people. . . . It is not too much to estimate that within the next 25 years you can see steady subdivision of (adjoining) vast acreage, with a population that will amount to as much as 75,000 people. . . .

"The extension of Willow road is a must for the people of Menlo Park, as it will provide a by-pass for through traffic. . . . If no through by-pass is provided for ,it can be anticipated that the streets of central Menlo Park will become congested to the point of discouraging people from coming to the central shopping area."

Middlefield road should be widened, the report says, in view of the fact that, when fully developed, the professional and administrative zone in Linfield Oaks will emply about 3200 people. This will "generate" about 2000 cars' traffic during some hours.

In addition to this, the master plan calls for development of a portion of the Linfield Oaks zone as a shoping center. This too will generate traffic, making the widening of Middlefield road even more necessary, though at other hours.

The Ringwood-Ravenswood-Menlo avenues plan for an east-west artery, the report says, is necessary because of the present lack of connection between the eastern and western parts of the city.

INTERNAL CIRCULATION

The overpass, which is a part of this plan, would allow traffic to move to either side of Bayshore Freeway without having to make use of a proposed traffic interchange at Willow road and Bayshore. The report adds, however,

"The Ringwood - Ravenswood - Menlo avenue route should not be considered a major highway to carry traffic through the city. It is instead designed for internal circulation as such two lanes with adequate parking strips would be sufficiene through to Middlefield road. From Middlefield road to El Camino, however, four lanes should be provided.

Santa Cruz avenue, if developed in accordance with provisions of the report, would serve as the same type of "internal connector" for eastern Menlo Park, the report says. It will also provide a direct connection for lands west of Menlo Park, which may also be developed.

Willow Rd. Owners Group Organizes Against Master Plan

A group of owners of commercially-zoned property facing Willow road last week organized to contest items in the city's proposed master plan which would result in the reclassification of their land from "commercial" to "residential."

Vance Brown, owner of two store buildings at Willow road and Newbridge street, explained the group's position:

"We are confident that if we can present our side of the matter, members of the planning commission will see the difference between what is proposed in the master plan and the amount of commercial zoning which can actually be supported."

The group first met last Thursday night, Brown reported. About 30 persons attended.

"At the present time we are working on membership, and are trying to collect pertinent facts," Brown explained. "One of our problems will be to persuade the planning commission to give opponents of the master plan sufficient time to collect data which might suggest changes in the master plan report."

SEE LOSS

The group contends that changing the classification to the residential classification would result in loss of value to the owners.

Officers of the group include Earl Berendsen, chairman; Brown; W. J. Gowans, H. S. Shelton and A. J. Ranstead.

Specifically, Brown said, the group intends to make studies concerning the following:

1. Parking.

"We have been trying to collect data from other communities because we believe that there is an assumption of standards that is not correct. For instance, in this area the master plan calls for two square feet of parking for each square foot of commercial space.

"Numerous types of businesses do not require that much. Too, parking time is an important factor. A 'one for one' ratio seems to be the average in other communities."

2. Economic life.

"One of the parts of the plan which should be emphasized is the clause set up for the determining of the "economic life" of existing commercial structures which will become non - conforming if the land on which they are situated is rezoned for residential use.

"As near as I can determine, this clause is unique and very drastic in its implications. Persons owning commercial buildings without compensation."

Brown himself is the owner of buildings, construction of which was completed this year, which are designed for long economic life.

"These buildings could last for 100 years, yet I might have to tear them down in 20."

RC Planner Views Menlo Park's Master Plan

About 40 persons Friday night attended a meeting of the Menlo Park Civic Interest League, and heard both pro and con discussions of the proposed master plan.

Featured speaker was Larry Wise, planning consultant for Redwood City, who implied his endorsement of the master plan. Speaking from the floor, and taking the opposite view was Vance M. Brown, Willow road property owner.

In giving a resume of the plan, Wise said that there appeared to be too much commercial area in Menlo Park at the present time, but added that, with heavy growth, it might be necessary to expand the city's business district in the next few years.

He said also that experience in Redwood City had showed that, even with offstreet parking in the central business district, shopping centers in the outlying areas continue to develop.

Concerning the justice of rezoning some commercial property for parking, for the benefit of other commercial property, Wise observed, "we have our day in court" at which to assure that justice be done.

LIBRARY

Edwin A. Gross, 1399 Middle avenue, objected to the master plan on the basis that it did not provide for a city library. He pointed out that Menlo Park is "supposed to be a cultural community."

In his floor, Brown pointed out.

In his talk from the floor, Brown pointed out that the master plan failed to consider possible development of residential areas east of Menlo Park, which might in the future provide the economic base for commercial development in the Belle Haven area.

He also pointed out that Menlo Park had a first master plan about 20 years ago, and observed, "any master plan should be related to the future and the past, and should consider adjacent areas as well as those of the city."

road, it will result in a "waste" of the present Willow road development in the tract. Too, he said, the present plan, which may not be activated for several years, means that development of the entire southern portion of the tract must be held in abeyance.

He questioned the proposed shifting of multi-famly residential property from along Alma street to the vicinity of an area zoned for a shopping center in the tract.

He added also that the master plan appeared to have ignored a proposed bridge which would connect Waverley street in Menlo Park with Waverley street in Palo Alto.

Planning Consultant Harold F. Wise explained his thinking in the development.

He said that, in recent weeks, interest in the proposed southerly extension of Willow road has been reawakened.

Although no surveys have yet been made, present plans seem to indicate a route for Willow which would only cross San Francisquito creek at one point, not returning to the Menlo Park side of the creek in Linfield Oaks as previously suggested.

The present route of Willow road, Wise said, would lead to "impossible" complications. To extend it west to connect with Sandhill road, it would be necessary to route traffic onto Cambridge avenue and to cut through valuable developed residential property west of Arbor road.

Others who were heard at the hearing included:

Emmet Cashin, 1 Faxon way, Atherton, representing D. O. Johnson, owner of a plot between Linfield Oaks and Burgess park. Said the owner of the property wanted to develop it for professional use, as provided at the time he bought the property.

Marcus Marcussen. Asked that master plan realign extension of Ringwood avenue so it would not join Ravenswood avenue at Marcussen drive.

Victor Greisser. Asked that Menlo Square area retain full commercial, rather than be given "neighborhood shopping center"-type zoning.

QUESTIONS PLAN

Attorney John Wilson, representing Mrs. Helen Wildman, proprietor of the Marie Antoinette hotel. Questioned "amortization" policy called for in the proposed zoning ordinance which will implement the master plan.

Wilson described the method as "almost like taking property without due process of law" and suggested that a better way would be to limit repairs and rebuilding.

Katherine MacLean, owner of property on the north side of Oak Grove opposite Chestnut. Asked why that property would be retained in single-family residential zoning.

Wise replied that, in due time, the business district might have to expand, and could do so more easily through a single-family residential area than through an apartment-house area.

(This led to a "challenge" by Irving F. Dunn, who said Wise had previously said that commercial zoning would not "jump" Oak Grove avenue.)

SEES CHANGE OF MIND

Mrs. Edward Schivo, 726 Oak Grove avenue, asked what assurance the residents had that the planners wouldn't "change their minds again" about the proposed width of Oak Grove.

George Lang, 846 Oak Grove avenue, called on the planning commission to keep Santa Cruz avenue open. Under these circumstances, he said, no changes in parking or width on Oak Grove or Menlo would be necessary.

Vance Brown, 1226 Middlefield road, Palo Alto. Asked that more time be given for those protesting against the master plan to study its ramifications.

Gerard Wagstaffe, attorney representing Irene Bidwell and Y. Wong, owners of commercial property at San Antonio street and Glenwood avenue. Said east side of San Antonio street should be zoned "light industrial" now, rather than in the future.

SET STUDY

Irene Whitcomb, co-proprietor of a rest home at 800 Roble avenue, asked if that use could be continued under new zoning. Planners agreed to take the question under study.

L. R. Everett, 815 Cambridge avenue, said he did not approve of duplex zoning on his street west of Cornell road.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edwin J. Kennedy, pastor of St. Raymond's church, asked clarification of proposed zoning ordinance provisions for offstreet parking at places of public assembly.

road and Newbridge street. A shopping center, built last year, already occupies the corner.

The new plan also calls for development of a neighborhood shopping center between Bayshore highway and Market place, north of Alpine, and change of location of the proposed recreation park to the area south and at the western end of Terminal avenue.

It also asks change of the industrial zone "generally north of Chilco street" from light industrial to single-family residential classification.

Proposed duplex zoning in parts of Belle Haven was recommended to be "dropped," with single-family residential use to be substituted in the affected areas. These consist of two blocks facing Hamilton avenue between Hill and Modov avenues, and a block facing Bayshore highway.

GIVES REASONS

Making the recommendations for the streets bordering the central business district, Wise reported:

1. University drive-Santa Cruz intersection: Studies not yet complete, but adequate circulation south at the intersection can be had if 32 feet be taken off Fremont park.

2. Right-of-way widths on Menlo and Oak Grove avenues, and University drive: Recommend that the master plan call for widths of 80, rather than 92 feet.

This would mean that property north of Oak Grove avenue between University drive and the highway would not be disturbed, but parking would not be permitted on the north side of the street, with no parking on either side at the narrow end at El Camino Real.

Menlo avenue would be treated in the same way, with no parking allowed on the south side of the street.

IN BELLE HAVEN

Turning to Belle Haven, Wise reported:

1. Restudy shows 11 single-family dwellings in the proposed industrial zone at the present time. The area is now zoned for apartment use.

2. Proposed commercial area in Belle Haven block 27: Although previously vacant, now has six one-family residences.

3. Proposed duplex zone: now has 28 single-family residences.

4. Area formerly proposed for neighborhood park: previously vacant, now has four duplex dwellings. This would increase cost of acquisition by about $60,000, limit usefulness.

5. Proposed one-family residential zone along Willow road from Bayshore to eastern city limits: Survey shows 10 lots have been developed for multi-family use; four have been developed commercially.

Atherton Council Holds First 'Late' Meeting

Atherton's town council held its first late evening meeting in many years Monday, reflecting the heavy commuting schedule of its members.

In previous years, as long as anyone can remember, the council met at 5:30 p. m. as the commuting members arrived on the train. Since the election of two new councilmen, however, it was suggested by one of them that the time be changed to a more convenient hour of 8:30 p. m.

The council also:

1. Adopted an ordinance to abandon Manzanita road and Cherry road as city streets. Neither had been used as a thoroughfare for many years.

2. Permitted the developers of Walsh Road Heights to put power poles along the street frontage instead of the inside property lines of the new subdivision, and abandoned easements there.

3. Approved the final subdivision map of Selby Acres, which would cut up the Dr. Hugh D. Phillips land into six residential lots.

4. Approved the Middlefield Oaks subdivision map.

5. Adopted the entire budget as submitted although the land valuation would not be available for two weeks and, therefore, no tax rate could be concluded.

6. Accepted a property easement from the Southern Pacific company for a strip of land along Fair Oaks lane, which the city has been using as part of a thoroughfare for many years. The easement meant no change in the present maintenance of the land, but merely made the town of Atherton legally responsible for it.

7. Approved the subdivision of the Stern estate.

8. Accepted the building plans for additional rooms at Encinal school.

this area and the intentions of the American Trust to go into Menlo Park is true, but only as a long range plan."

TALK PREMATURE

Dodson added that although the bank has owned the property on Oak Grove avenue for the past three years, no bank will be built there if the city does not wish it.

He further pointed out that a mistake was made somewhere along the line which resulted in premature announcement of the bank's intentions.

Dodson said the bank's building department told him yesterday that they had given no authorization for drawing of plans or release of such an announcement.

City Councilman Michael L. Belangie, when told of the announcement, said, "My understanding is that the property indicated for a new bank site is still up before the planning commission and presently has been designated as a parking area. I believe that, until a decision is reached on the downtown area, any plans for a new bank or any commercial enterprise are premature.

"However, we are pleased to know that the American Trust company is considering such a building. I am sure the city council will do everything to help the bank find a location," Belangie concluded.

Man Hurt in Mishap On Willow Road

A Daly City truck driver was severely injured on Willow road near Bayshore highway yesterday morning when he was struck by an auto driven by a Menlo Park man.

The injured man was Robert G. Ansaldo, 25. He was crossing the street from a coffee shop to his truck when he was struck by an auto driven by Mike B. Belich, 38, paint mixer who resides at 2250 Willow road.

California highway patrolmen investigated the accident, but issued no citations.

Ansaldo was said to have suffered pelvic injuries, possible hip and leg fractures and friction burns.

Firemen Have 'Run' Of Minor Fires

Firemen in the Menlo Park district were kept busy over the weekend with a series of minor blazes in dwellings, grass fires and a false alarm.

The first was a grass fire in the San Francisquito creek bed at 4:22 p. m., near Woodland avenue and Pope street. It was followed shortly after, at 4:53 p. m., with a minor blaze in a home owned by Lake McDonald at 1718 W. Selby lane, Atherton. Minor damage resulted from spontaneous combustion on the service porch.

The firemen started early on Sunday with a call at 1:23 a. m. from Sequoia avenue, Redwood City, where an overloaded motor in a refrigerator began smoking. Damage was limited to the refrigerator.

At 8:20 a. m. the entire department turned out for a false alarm at the Veterans' hospital recreation building, when the automatic alarm short circuited.

Children playing with matches resulted in a grass fire at 2271 Poplar street, East Palo Alto. The call came at 2:26 p. m. This was followed by another grass fire at 4:17 p. m., near Glen way and Green street, also in East Palo Alto.

Monday, children playing with matches resulted in another fire in the garage at 1356 Middle avenue. Clothing stored in the garage was burned.

Las Lomitas Budget, Hearing Date Set

Las Lomitas School District today publishes its proposed $235,419 budget for the coming school year, and gives notice that public hearing on it will be held at 8 p. m. Aug. 6, at Las Lomitas school.

Major item in the budget, the latter geared to an estimated enrollment of 600 pupils, will be for teachers' salaries; $114,085 is set for that item. The budget also lists a $30,850 item for capital outlay; $10,130 for transportation of pupils; $11,630 for administration; $17,967 for plant operation and $17,500 for undistributed reserve.

The budget is to be financed mainly through state average daily attendance apportionments of an anticipated $69,490 and current district taxes which are expected to yield $134,972. The budget also takes cognizance of a beginning balance of $17,376.

Minor items of income expected include state allocations for growth, payment of delinquent taxes and taxes on unsecured property.

BAD COMBINATION

Two fires this week and an increasing number during the past two weeks as a result of children playing with matches, caused Fire Marshall Edwin Wickstrom to remind parents:

"This time of the year it seems that children, particularly between the ages of 5 and 7, have fulfilled all their summer time ambitions and are looking for things to do and excitement. They see their parents lighting matches and they think they can try it too. One dares the other and a fire results, which is usually more hazardous to them than to the home or building because they do not yet realize the danger."

Chief Wickstrom stated it is the responsibility of the parents to see that matches are kept out of the children's reach. He pointed out that overstressing the danger after the fire has resulted usually works in an opposite direction, and arouses children's curiosity about fire, which they did not have previously."

Sanitary District Sets Sept. 15 as Date, $310,000 as Amount, for Bond Issue Voting

Voters in the Menlo Park Sanitary District will go to the polls Sept. 15 to vote yes or no on a $310,000 bond, which is needed to pay for the construction of new outfall sewers in this area.

The election date and the exact amount of the bond was set Monday night at the regular meeting of the district board of trustees.

Tentative polling places named were the fire station at 1077 Merrill street in Menlo Park and the Atherton town hall.

Specifically, the bond monies will pay for the replacement of outfall sewers along the eastern part of Atherton avenue and along Middle avenue, some of which were first laid 40 years ago.

The board has found the sewers in the two areas inadequate and many reports of "backing up" and overflowing were turned in last winter.

A visit to Monday's board meeting by John Harrison of the county water pollution control board, put a stop to a possible alternative for the district if the bonds do not pass.

OTHER PLAN

If the new outfalls were not put in before this winter, the district planned to run the Middle avenue overflow into San Francisquito creek to keep it out of the streets. Harrison said "absolutely no" to this idea and made the passage of the bonds an acute need.

With a two-thirds majority of the voters required to pass the bonds, the district plans to educate the people and civic groups to their problems and Board Secretary Dr. Lawrence Cook of the District, plans to call a meeting of the citizens in the area to ask their help in campaigning.

Cook pointed out that the district is not permitted to spend funds on promoting an election and must depend upon contributions and volunteers.

So acute is the need, the district will begin accepting bids on the project before the election. If the bonds pass, the bids will be opened the following day and the contracts awarded at that time.

If work is started immediately following the election, the trustees feel the most needed part of the project can be completed before the rains begin.

Michael L. Belangie, city councilman and former president of the chamber of commerce, announced this week that he will form a citizens' committee to work for the passage of the $310,000 sewer bond.

Belangie was recently appointed chairman of the committee by I. L. Johnston, president of the chamber of commerce.

Expecting to have his committee formed in the next 10 days, Belangie said regarding the bond issue, "The passage is urgent and necessary. Failure of the bond passage can only mean a higher sewer district tax to provide sewers."

WHAT BECAME OF IT?

Last January Menlo Park had a great idea.

We were going to construct a community center building that would serve as a meeting place for group activities.

The idea was not new. Many persons had thought of it, discussed it, proposed it. Then John P. McCarthy, past president of the Kiwanis club, crystallized action by presenting plans for such a building that he himself had undertaken to have drawn up.

Enthusiasm ran high. Organizations came forward to promise their aid and a fund drive was started.

The city's young people, through their flourishing Teen-age club, offered $1500. The Business and Professional Women's Club donated $300. An anonymous resident offered $1000 if the fund committee could secure similar gifts from four other persons or groups.

And then what happened? A benefit dance was held and another money-raising project. But somehow the enthusiasm was gone. The groups that had promised help, forgot.

And what is the status of the community center project today?

It is right where it started, except that time has been lost while the need has increased.

There are constantly more organizations in growing Menlo Park, and each group itself is growing. Already the inadequate facilities in the city council chambers building are over-taxed.

We hope the Teen-age club will be revived when summer vacation is over, but the club was overflowing its meeting room last year, and without a good place to meet the activity will never be as strong as we all would wish.

The teen-agers' funds—even larger now—are still available for the project.

We venture to assume that the $1000 offer still stands and that the Business and Professional Women's Club will not ask for its money back—if the project goes ahead.

Once let down by those who promised aid, the original sponsors of the project could not be blamed for feeling sour. But then it is time for others to do their share.

Such a community center building could be the heart of Menlo Park, a force to unify and encourage civic interest, to draw together all the groups that now meet in homes, in restaurants, in other cities and give our community life a community meaning.

Menlo Park has the necessary spirit. It was visible at last week's Chamber of Commerce dinner. Let's pull that spirit together and finish what we started.

It's a big job, but a worthwhile job, AND IT CAN BE DONE.

Mid-summer, perhaps, is not the time to start a drive. But let's start now to make plans for fast work in the Fall.

The Recorder is willing to help. We urge all of you who are interested to call now and let us know. Call DA 3-6118.

GOOD TURNOUT

The first annual dinner last week brought out almost 300 persons, more than the chamber's present total membership—and many had to be refused tickets.

The turnout is a credit to the spirit of Menlo Park. W. P. Fuller III, president of the San Francisco chamber, pointed out that Los Angeles feels proud if it draws 1000 to such an event.

The difference in proportionate representation can be attributed to the fact that members of the Los Angeles chamber feel themselves only a small part of a large, impersonal organization in which they are not expected to take active part.

In Menlo Park, every member knows the chamber belongs to him and its success depends on his personal interest.

It is spirit such as this that should encourage new President Larry Johnston and his officers and directors to make the chamber's second year a year of growth and worthwhile activity.

You know the city is behind you, Larry, and we know you can do a fine job of building the chamber, now that its first formative year is passed, into a force for the welfare of the community as a whole.

City Plan Procedure Is Outlined

By MAYOR CHAS. P. BURGESS

Thus far the hearings on the proposed master plan for the city have generated more heat than light. Perhaps much of the heat is due to some lack of understanding of the processes involved, and on that presumption I'll outline the procedures.

The proposed master plan is basically the recommendation of the planning consultants Wise and Eisner after almost a year of study, and after numerous and lengthy study conferences with the city planning commission.

The final proposal was prepared after consultation with public officials in Menlo Park and neighboring jurisdictions but without discussion with the public. That is now the duty of the planning commission.

The planning commission is holding hearings on the various sections of the plan in order to get the public reaction to it.

It is the planning commission's job to make modifications, deletions and additions as a result of the public hearings, and to recommend to the city council a master plan which in the light of all information obtained represents in the commission's opinion the best plan for the people of Menlo Park.

Even when the commission has approved a plan and recommended it to the council for adoption, the plan is not in effect.

First, the council must hold a series of hearings on the plan similar to those held by the commission. The council will hear again any objections overruled by the commission, together with any suggestions for additions and modifications.

Although the recommendations of the commission will carry great weight with the council, these hearings are not cut and dried. The council has disagreed with the commission on occasions in the past when in its judgment the appropriate decision was otherwise.

I point this out to contradict some individuals who have indicated that the council will have a closed mind on the subject.

Only when the plan as modified is adopted by ordinance by the council does it have the effect of law. There is still open to opponents the right of referendum whereby they can require that the plan go to a vote of the people of the city.

Even when adopted, many phases of the master plan would not automatically be carried out.

The zoning plan would, of course, be effective.

The park program would require a general obligation bond issue carried by a two-thirds vote of the people.

The central business district plan would require an assessment district, which can be annulled by owners of a majority of the property involved.

The Willow road extension requires financing not now visible. The Ringwood overpass depends on a new agreement with the state highway commission.

To those who have attempted to contrast themselves with members of the planning commission by proclaiming that they "work for a living," I would like to point out that the commission consists of representative businessmen and residents of the city who devote long hours gratis to commission work, and all of whom "work for their living" in addition to their public service.

Against Master Plan

Editor:

You cannot compromise on a moral issue.

The confiscation of valuable property for the sole benefit of owners of a like area of other property is an injustice to all those owners, and violates our Bill of Rights, under our Constitution.

We are not unmindful of the need to plan for the best development of our growing city, but the proposed plan constricts rather than expands the facilities for such growth, in the Central Business District.

There is a right way to do anything that needs to be done, and we believe if the will is present, that way will be found.

County Taxpayers Have Share of Debt

The people of San Mateo county will have to pay $25,520,000 in taxes in the future as their share of the $12,700,000,000 deficit resulting from the failure of congress to balance the federal budget for 1952-53 within the limits of anticipated federal income, California Taxpayers' association says, checking the box score of congressional action on the federal budget.

This is over and above the taxes that must be paid for 1952-53.

California's share of the $12,700,000,000 deficit in this year's federal spending program will be about $1,083,310,000, the association estimated—almost as much as the $1,200,000,000 state budget for 1952-53—almost as much as the total state tax bill for the year.

Patricia Mitau Becomes Bride

Patricia Mitau became Mrs. Pierre S. Rhein at an early evening garden ceremony last Monday.

Patricia, granddaughter of Mrs. Herbert Fleishhacker, had her only sister, Marjorie Mitau, as maid of honor at the wedding. Bridesmaids included Virginia Green, Mary Louise Schwabacher, Mrs. William Green, Nancy Sloss, Anne Fibush, and Mrs. Charles Magnuson.

The attendants' gowns were identically styled but in various shades ranging from yellow to pale green. The dresses were strapless ballerina-length gowns, with matching stoles and shoes. Their flowers were a combination of roses and begonias.

The bride wore an ivory satin gown, with a snug bodice, full skirt and full-length train. The heart-shaped neckline was trimmed with seed pearls. A wreath of orange blossoms held the heirloom rose point veil. Patricia carried sprays of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The groom chose Maurice Gaillard to act as best man. The ushers were William Green, James H. Schwabacher Jr., Ernest Scolari, Robert Spiefl, Joseph Del Valle and Albert Stafford.

The Atherton home of Mr. and Mrs. Mitau was host to about 350 guests who gathered to watch Pierre take Patricia as his bride. A chartreuse canvas runner led from the house to a platform in the garden, on which was an improvised altar. Yellow and white rose trees, fern, and begonias banked both the path and the altar. Rabbi Alvin I. Fine officiated at the service. Following the ceremony dinner was served to the guests in the garden.

The newlyweds' honeymoon trip will take them to Europe where they will visit with the bridegroom's mother in Switzerland who was unable to attend the wedding. The couple will also tour France, Italy, Spain and England.

Upon their return to California, Mr. and Mrs. Rhein plan to make their home in San Francisco.

TO BENEFIT ORPHANAGE

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Desimone of Atherton hosted some 100 guests last Sunday at an Italian-style dinner held in their home. The dinner was given for the Sons of Italy in behalf of the nationwide drive to collect funds for the Cassino Memorial orphange in Italy.

'Best Show Yet' Promised by W-A Auxiliary

This year's horse show at the Menlo Circus club, say heads of the sponsoring Woodside-Atherton Junior auxiliary to the Stanford Convalescent home, will be "better than ever," with a list of judges and partial entries already "in hand."

The show is scheduled for August 23 at 12 noon, and will precede the party doings of the 'Carnival in Rio,' Howard Greer fashion preview, opening of the cabanas and all-evening dancing.

Tickets to the affair may be purchased at the gate, with the public cordially invited to attend.

JUDGES

Lester Stirling of Salinas will judge the hunters, jumpers and polo class for the horse show. Buford Waller of North Hollywood will judge the saddle seat in equitation, and all saddle classes. George Milias of Gilroy will judge the Western events, Charles Broad will act as ringmaster, with Lonnie McNally at the microphone.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded for first through fourth placers.

Among the entries of the show are:

Mrs. William R. Roth, active charity worker, who showed her horses last year.

Caroline (Mrs. William) Atkinson entering her thoroughbred hunter "Reno-O-Neal," and her mother, Mrs. L. C. Smith of San Mateo who will show her hackney pony, "Boutenniere." Still another member of the Smith "clan," Connie (Mrs. Glenn) Atkinson, will drive the hackney pony, "Xavier."

MORE FAMILIES

The Malcolm Ramsays' daughters, who have already walked off with so many trophies, will compete against other junior entrants.

Mrs. Ernest Sultan will present her newly-purchased three-gaited saddle horse, "Steady Progress."

The Richard Elkus family from Woodside — although not yet returned to their home—have arranged to have two of their horses shown, "Happy Hooligan," a five-gaited saddle horse, and "Hawthorne Challenger," a hackney.

The Eugene Elkus will present "Sweet Temptation" from their High Hope stables in San Mateo.

HOW TO ENTER

Entrants in the horse show are expected from all over Northern California, as well as from this area. Anyone may enter the events, and stalls are available, with trailer parking places and tying spots also provided. The entries will close August 15, 1952. For information regarding entry, write:

NEW FEMININE GADGET

A NEW INDUSTRY has been set up to manufacture the "tyhood" which its inventor, Rene Pelle (Mrs. John M.) Coffin of Menlo Park is shown trying on her daughter, Carol. The simple but versatile headdresses are to be marketed in all fabrics from evening net to terrycloth. —Recorder photo.

Menlo Park Mother Invents Replacement for Bandanna

By JOAN HARZFELD

The birth of a new hat style and a resultant infant industry began with the desire of a Girl Scout mother to rid Menlo Park Troop 34 of its tied-over-the-chin bandanas. The mother is Mrs. John M. Coffin (Rene Pelle) of 10 Reyna place . . . the story goes like this:

Mrs. Coffin's 13-year-old daughter, Carol is a Girl Scout. Like other Scout mothers, Mrs. Coffin wanted to do something for her daughter's troop, and during the winter months last year the most pleasant solution seemed to be a weekly tea party at her home with illustrated talks on "better grooming."

Mrs. Coffin (who, incidently, is soon going to bring forth a line of cereamics under her maiden name of Rene Pelle) has always had a faculty for design and style—in her early post-college days she put together the first felt "conversation" ski skirts, which later appeared on the market under a clothing firm's trademark.

Therefore, it was only natural that when Rene Pelle registered disapproval of her Scout's bedraggled headgear, she should come up with something new to replace it. The "something" turned out to be a gay colorful scarf (reversible) with a tiny visor in front and ties to go behind or in back of the head—in toto, a head piece entirely feminine.

Girl Scout troopers loved these hoodlike hats, which have finally become known as "Tyhoods," and Rene Pelle proceeded to make them for the girls in bright colors to match their clothes. The first materials she used were corduroy and velveteen, yardage with enough body to withstand 'teenage travails.

When a friend of the Coffins came visiting in Menlo Park during the winter, he saw the tyhoods, and was completely impressed. Since he had had experience with inventions, already, he knew just what to do. The headgear which had begun as a one-woman crusade against bandanas was taken to Chicago, and immediately snapped up by Marshall Field's.

On May 11 of this year Marshall Field put the tyhoods on display, from the basement bargain hat counter to the upper floor "chaupeau salon," and the feminine headgear sold like white orchards in June.

Shortly afterward, the tyhoods (by then, a company of the same name) appeared on television in San Francisco, and in stores throughout the country—in fact, if you were to go shopping in Menlo Park today, you would find a shop there selling them in bright designs and colors.

During the summer the versatile "bandana-fighters" are made of cottons and terry cloth—the terry cloth ones, perfect for soaking up swim-wet hair. This fall the little hoods will be featured in glamorous velvets and velveteens, sparkled and studded for evening wear, in plastic for rain and in sturdy corduroy and woolens for school girls and coeds.

Rene Pelle, herself, is still somewhat bewildered by the Cinderella story of her brainchild, which had proved so successful here in Menlo Park with a handful of 'teenagers.

Meet To Form PEO Unit Here

All unaffiliated members of PEO who live in Menlo Park and Atherton are invited to attend a meeting Thursday at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Lyman C. Wear, 900 Cotton street, Menlo Park, for the purpose of discussing the possibility of establishing a Menlo Park-Atherton chapter.

The group meets every other Thursday morning at members' homes. Those invited include all PEOs living in the two towns, who are not members of chapters included in the PEO Peninsula Reciprocity Bureau. Interested PEOs are asked to telephone the hostess at DA 3-9515.

Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding Here

MR. AND MRS. SIMON AGHABALIAN, above, who started out together as newlyweds in Armenia 50 years ago, now call Menlo Park their home.

A Menlo Park couple with a wonderful formula for married happiness celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary here recently. A buffet dinner party for the couple—Mr. and Mrs. Simon Aghabalian—was given for them by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gananian.

The Aghabalians were married in Armenia, from whence they moved some years later to France, where Mr. Aghabalian taught school. Six years ago the couple came to the Unied States, and have lived two years now in Menlo Park with their daughter and her husband. Mr. Aghabalian has just received his citizenship papers.

Even though retired, the elderly gentleman is kept busy with his 30 chinchillas, which he rears as pets, rather than for future fur coats. His formula, which has made his and his wife's marriage a successfully happy one, is: "Every 'yes' brings contentment; every 'no' brings discontent." Mr. Aghabalian has seldom voiced a negative, he says.

Sixty-four guests were gathered at the recent party, which featured an array of Armenian dishes and a large cake congratulating the half-century wedded couple.

BABY DAUGHTER

A girl, weighing 7 pounds 9 ounces, was born July 20 to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trane of 1080 Noel drive.

AWVS Peninsula Units Plan Autumn Dance for August 30th

Keeping the social activities "door" open for fall will be the AWVS-combined Peninsula prom, featuring the dance music of Del Courtney.

The date to circle is August 30; the time—for dancing, 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.—for recreational concessions, 7 p. m.; the place is the spacious "Ballroom-to-be" in the Bay Meadows club house, San Mateo.

All AWVS units on the Peninsula will join forces to present the affair, which is designed to support local and state programs sponsored by the organization, such as voluntary service to veterans' hospitals, maintenance of canteens for armed forces, youth projects and aid to physically handicapped veterans.

Unit chairman from the Menlo-Atherton area is Mrs. J. H. Franklin, who is working closely with other unit heads an dmembers under the general direction of Mrs. Helen Lengfeld, state AWVS chairman.

Tickets for the "Dance with Del" ball will go on sale August 1, and will be available through leading merchants in this area. Ticket chairman is Mrs. Harold Starr, Palo Alto.

Former Society Editor Engaged

JEANNE THOMAS

Jeanne Thomas, former Recorder society editor, and Jules Raymond ("Buzz") Thiebut announced their engagement recently at the wedding rehearsal party for one of Jeanne's friends. Jeanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Howell Thomas of San Jose, and the bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Thiebut of San Francisco.

The wedding date has been tentatively set for January.

Both Jeanne and "Buzz' were graduated in 1951 from San Jose State college, where Jeanne was affiliated with Sigma Kappa sorority and "Buzz," with Kappa Alpha fraternity. The bride-to-be is now a feature writer for the San Jose Mercury-News. Her future husband is a purchasing agent for the Safeway stores in San Francisco.

Jeanne was with the Recorder staff from June 1951 to March 1952, leaving for her present position.

Baby Boy Born to Menlo Park Couple

A baby boy, named Charles Paul Rivers was born to parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Rivers at Oak Knoll hospital last Friday, July 25. The baby weighed in at 6 pounds 7 ounces.

Mrs. Rivers, formerly Sylvia Tupper, daughter of A. H. Tupper of Menlo Park, is living with her parents while her husband is in the navy in Adak, Alaska.

Mr. Rivers has one sister, Jamie, age 1.

Two MP Families Camp At Lake Pilsbury

Two Menlo Park couples joined forces recently and took their children for a camping vacation to Lake Pillsbury. The group consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Caplan and their two children, Frances and Stephen, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Maher and children, Judy and Stephen.

The two families were gone for nine days during which time they camped out in sleeping bags and tent near the lake. The expedition had two boats with them; one with a motor and another that they towed. In these, the families toured the lake and neighboring rivers. Although swimming in the lake was "wonderful," the fishing found best results in the rivers.

The party returned to their Menlo Park homes on July 20.

DAUGHTER IS BORN

A baby girl, weighing 7 pounds, was born at Palo Alto hospital July 29 to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nell of Stanford Village.

5th Anniversary Plan Made by Eastern Star

The Menalto chapter No. 562 of the Eastern Star will hold a pot-luck dinner next Saturday night at 6 o'clock. The dinner will be held in the banquet room of the Masonic temple in Palo Alto and the usual meeting to follow will be held in the blue room.

The dinner, which is in celebration of the fifth anniversary of the Menalo chapter, follows the course of the appointive officers' party held some weeks past.

All club members are invited to attend along with members of their families.

Holyoke Couple Make Long Awaited Visit To M. P. Friends

Mr. and Mrs. H. Jamrog, of Menlo Park, were the happy recipients of a visit from old friends last week. The visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Rene Bautrain from Holyoke, Mass.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Vautrain were born in Holyoke and this marks their first visit to California. The two couples have not seen each other for seven years.

Mrs. Jamrog and Mrs. Vautrain spent a six-month tour of Europe together in 1929. In fact, it was through Mrs. Vautrain that Mrs. Jamrog met her husband. To make the relationship even closer, Mr. Jamrog and Mr. Vautrain are first cousins.

The visit was filled with reminiscent tales of the past and plans for the future. The Vautrains were greatly impressed with the speedy growth of Menlo Park, and are tentatively planning to move here to make their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Vautrain reluctantly left Menlo Park last Thursday to return to Holycke, where Mr. Vautrain is with a publishing company.

The eastern visitors drove through Yosemite, then passed through Tehachapi, just missing the earthquake. The couple will sight-see in Arizona, Colorado and other western states, on their return trip.

Garden Study Club Plans 'Movie' Program

All persons in this area interested in colored motion pictures of a European trip, with accent on gardens and flora, are invited to attend the Garden Study club of the Peninsula's showing August 15 at 8 p. m. in the San Mateo Junior college auditorium.

Talk for 'Teen-Agers

By ROXIE RASEY
DA 2-8201

First on the agenda this week was the birthday party given by Shirley Coate in honor of the birthdays of Betty Babcock and Jeanna Rego. Six girls ate their lunch out in the garden and then topped off the lavish spread with the traditional cake and ice cream and, of course, the gifts.

Present at the affair were Sally Colebourn, Pat Conine, Jeanne, Betty, and Shirley.

* * * *

By the way, another lucky vacationist is on her way to the Tahoe area. Shirley Coate has gone up with her mother and "a friend" to spend just a couple of weeks at the resort area. Some people just are too lucky!

* * * *

Saturday night was the time for another birthday party to be held. This one was a dinner given in honor of Sherman McClellan. Six couples (everything seems to be in sixes this week) gathered at Sherm's home for a big dinner, and later the group played games. It was originally scheduled to have the guests dance, but since it was the end of the week, the group decided to play some old-fashioned parlor games that wouldn't take too much energy.

The guests included Jeanne Rego, Don Lane, Jim Morley, Glenda Spears, George Symons, Sally Coburn, Ted Latinen, Mary Kay, Roger Ahlenius, Carol Fogel, and Sherm.

* * * *

Jeanne Rego invited some of her close friends to help her celebrate her birthday at abeach party which she gave last Sunday. The four girls went to Santa Cruz and did a terrific job of patching up those "copper tans."

The foursome included Verla Hill, Lynne Colebourn, Sally Coburn and Jeanne.

* * * *

Well, since this week everyone seems to be giving dinners or luncheons, yours truly can't be excluded. Tuesday night we gave a small dinner party at our home. After dinner there was dancing and games. Present were Lynne Osmond, Brad Crandall, Annette Johnson, Tom Schaible, Judy Vierhus, Gary Tooker, and Jack Demorest.

* * * *

The last vacation month is now rolling into view, and we hate to say this but it's coming very quickly—too fast, and the time has now come for teen agers to start buying their fall clothes. We've noticed that they seem to be showing a lot of the separates in collars, cuffs, belts and scarves. Good duck on your shopping spree this month—you'll need it!

Jack Kiefer Takes In United States 'Sights'

Jack Kiefer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kiefer of Menlo Park, is due home this weekend from his month-long "junket" across the United States.

Jack left June 29 for the East Coast, where he visited with relatives, and managed to take in such scenic spots as Niagara Falls, New York City, Washington, D. C., Annapolis—in fact, about everything to see in addition to swim - hopping from one of the Great Lakes to another.

The Ken L. Ohrans Enjoy North Route

The Ken L. Ohrans recently returned to their Menlo Park home following a fortnight's motoring trip that took them from Utah, where they visited relatives, through Yellowstone, Glacier park and the Tillamook cheese factory in Oregon.

The Ohrans missed one side trip in Oregon, however, which they have vowed to return and take—the mail boat cruise from Gold Beach to Agnes, where a real "farm style" luncheon is served.

Mills College Alumnae Here Aid Fund Drive

As Mills college goes into its two-hundredth year, the pressing burden of inflation and depreciation has led the school alumnae, trustees and benefactors into a vast two million dollar fund-raising project, entitled "Second Century fund." The national chairman of the drive is Mrs. Christopher Connor, aided by area heads Mrs. Donald Newport of Menlo Park and Mrs. Milton Bulkeley of Woodside.

The drive is scheduled to run for three years.

The idea of a great financial drive in 1952 was formulated with the board of trustees about three years ago, and was given a pert nudge last fall when the alumnae group in this area held a fashion show at the John Wickett estate in Atherton. A play reading given in May by Mrs. Marion Stebbins also added more jots to the "credit" side.

To date approximately $645,000 has been raised according to Mrs. Connor.

Japanese graduates of Mills — in Japan now—have lent their aid to the project by cutting their "obi's" into dolls and purses to be turned into college scholarships and professors' salaries.

In fact, faculty pay accounts for a planned one million dollars out of the two million dollar goal. One-half million dollars will go toward scholarship endowments and another one-half million, toward "deferred maintenance," destined in part to give a post-World War II "uplift" to the shabby building faces on campus.

The history of Mills college threads its way from the Young Ladies' Seminary established in 1852 at Benicia, and led through its first years by a fiery "bloomer girl"; through the era of Cyrus and Susan Mills, who were originally missionaries, and under whose supervision the college grew into its present acreage in Oakland; and on, supervised by the energetic and scholarly Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, first California woman to head any college in the country.

Among the alumnae in this area are Mrs. Robert Nadeau of Menlo Park, head of the Palo Alto Mills graduate organization; Mrs. Edward H. Heller, Atherton, member of the board of trustees and Mrs. L. Polk Dodson Jr. of Menlo Park.

Mr. Potter had a bit of luck fishing—he caught a bass large enough to cook — which seems an accomplishment, since most of the fish at Clear Lake are too well fed to bite.

Atherton Vacationers Return from Kings Co.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Miner have just returned to their Atherton home from a week's trip to Kings river. They packed in by horseback to their fishing site on the river. While there they visited with their son, Mr. Melton Miner, who has a cabin at the vacation spot.

Although they got "nothing to brag about" in the line of trout, they had the rather disquieting experience of feeling their cabin rumble and shake as the earthquake temblors ran their course in the region.

It was the couple's first visit to the Kings county vacationing resort.

For best man, Alan has chosen Dick Bridgers of Los Angeles. All the ushers, with the exception of Donald McLean, are from Los Angeles. They are Bud Jones, Bob Adams, Bob Engmund, Gay Roten and John Flannery.

The pink and white motif will be carried throughout the wedding. The bride's and bridesmaid's dresses, the flowers, and even the cake will be in pink and white contrasting colors.

Europe Travellers Continue Tale Of Adventure on the Continent

PARIS, July 2, postcard from Nan:

"This town is just like a picture book, and I still can't believe it. Had dinner at the Tour d'Argent with Doug Fairbanks, Jr., Claudette Colbert and Sophie Tucker last night. Tonight we ate up on the Eiffel Tower. . ."

* * * *

NIIRDWIJK AAN ZEE, July 11, from Nan:

"Here we are in the land of the windmills and the wooden shoes. This is quite a country. Everyone rides a bicycle and wears funny little hats. We are staying at a hotel between Rotterdam and Amsterdam right on the North Sea. The window in my room overlooks a beautiful beach below it. . . .

"We arrived here Thursday night as the sun was setting over the water. The sky was rose colored and the sea, very calm. It was dinner time and not a soul was on the street. But after dinner everyone came out of their houses, sailors and soldiers of the Dutch armed forces began arriving on bicycles from nearby camps. A little band played in the square around the corner from the hotel. It was very nice and romantic.

"This is just a small town with very narrow streets paved with red brick. The houses are of brick with brightly painted shutters. There are lots of flowers and trees lining the roads. Everything is green, as there is plenty of water. The milk is the best we've had since we left home.

"Nearly everyone has blond hair and blue eyes, and the girls have real rosy cheeks. . . .

"We only passed through the outskirts of Rotterdam and The Hague, and I haven't seen Amsterdam yet, so I can't tell you much about them. The Dutch are very friendly and will break their necks to do something for you. They like to practice their English on us. Everyone is "I Like Ike" happy, and are very interested in the elections. . ."

* * * *

HAMBURG, no date, Tony:

". . . Nan and I both bought wooden shoes at a little town called Denekamp (?), which is just before you go over the German border. We stayed at a little hotel in Denekamp for last night. The hotel was out in the country and there was a pasture next to us with some milk cows in it. . . . There was a small canal on the other side of the hotel where we could rent boats, and there was a tennis court in the back of the hotel.

"We went for a walk in the woods after dinner. It was one of the nicest places I have seen in Europe for a summer resort out in the country.

"We have seen quite a bit of ruined cities here in Germany and also in France. Here in Germany the seaport cities were mutilated. . . That's another funny thing about Europe—you never see a wooden house. Everything is made out of brick or stone or cement or plaster, but never a wooden house. In the cities some of the stores have very nice wooden fronts on the buildings.

"In France the people are fairly nice to Americans and in Holland and Belgium they are very nice, but in Germany the people resent the Americans. In Holland the people go out of their way to please the tourists. I think they are the finest and most hospitable people in the world. . . I think I got the biggest wooden shoes in Holland—everybody laughs at me when I go down the street. . ."

(Tony and Nan are sailing home on the New Amsterdam, and are expected about August 20.)

'VALUABLE PLAYERS' IN JR. CIRCUIT

TOP BATTER — Niel McCarty, above, was last year's Junior softball league's top batter, with an average of .529 and with five home runs to his credit. This year, he's playing first base with Shreve and Burgess sports shop.

S&B, Preuss Nines Are Victors in Games In Junior Softball Loop at Nealon

In this week's A division Menlo-Atherton junior softball league games, Shreve and Burgess sports shop defeated Allsberry plumbing and heating, 17-4, Preuss pharmacy edged Abrott and Leigh paints, 11-9, and Allsberry knocked off Abrott and Leigh, 13-4.

In B division play, Hogan's shoes dropped Belle Haven, 23-6, and Menlo Motors cinched the first round B championship with a 14-6 win over the Belle Haven squad.

Sport shop chucker Roger Postlewaite had a two-hit shutout going at the start of the seventh inning, but had to settle for a four-hit, 17-4 win, as Allsberry came to life with a hard double and a blooper single, followed by several mental and two physical S&B errors.

Preuss pharmacy, following the example set by Menlo Motors, nipped a Abrott and Leigh rally in the seventh to assure victory.

With the tying runs in scoring position and one runner already across, Dave Leahy came back to force David Lang to popup and to get Pete Lee on a well hit fly to center to win, 11-9.

Gary Douglas threw very impressive five-hit ball Monday evening to give his Allsberry mates a 13-4 victory. Four of the blows were gathered in the fifth and sixth innings.

Larry (Moose) Irwin, top-notch Allsberry catcher, blasted a home-run down the left field line in the first with two aboard to cinch the victory.

Little Johnny Curti blasted three home runs off the offerings of Lee Smith to lead Hogan's to a 23-6 win over Belle Haven, their first lop success.

Catcher Clark Gant rapped out four singles for the winners while Frank Lee collected two and Robert Ritchey gathered three safeties.

Cubby Welch, brother of the M-AHS athlete, took the pitching chores in the absence of Frank Del Pozzo, also a M-A athlete's brother, and twirled three-hit ball to cinch the first round B league title for Menlo Motors. Welch picked up three of Menlo Motors ten hits and bashed a homerun as well.

David Drotar of Menlo Motors is the B division's top hitter thus far with a .750 average. Nearly 25 B division players are batting better than .400.

NFFE Out to Avenge Loss in Game Tonight; Motorsmen Maintain 2nd Half Circuit Lead

The National Federation of Federal Employees will be out to avenge their recent loss to Menlo Motors No. 1 this evening when they tangle with Hare, Brewer and Kelley real estate in a Menlo Park recreation softball league game at 8:30 p. m.

Menlo Motors maintained their second half lead Tuesday evening, scoring in every inning to trounce the Feds 11-5, behind Jim Hill's four-hit pitching.

The official league standings, including Tuesday's games, are as follows: Menlo Motors No. 1, 5-0; NFFE, 3-1; HB&K, 2-2; Menlo Motors No. 2, 1-4; Menlo Firemen, 1-5.

The Menlo Firemen withdrew from the league this week and forfeited their last three games—one scheduled for last Friday, one for Tuesday and one for Aug. 8. Dwindling interest was the reason for the withdrawal. The loop standings include all three forfeits.

NEAR RECORD

Although Dick Cesarin was up two times less than the required number of at bats, the husky Fireman will not have his sizzling .750 batting average disallowed because of the smokeaters' withdrawal.

Cesarin is virtually a cinch for the '52 batting championship, won last year by Fireman Vince Del Pozzo with .488 and the year before by "Bullet" Bill Taylor of Menlo Motors with .333.

1952 league play will be rapped up next Tuesday evening with a final doubleheader at Nealon park.

Menlo Motors No. 1, defending champions for two years running, will have to best HB&K in the 7:30 p. m. opener to cinch the championship, unless the NFFE loses tonight or in the second game on Tuesday, which pits them against Menlo Motors No. 2 at 9 p. m.

League records for this season, in both hitting and pitching, are generally not as good as last year's eight-team league, Cesarin's mark the exception, however, and is probably a new Menlo Park record.

'Teen Casabamen In 55th Start

Menlo Furnace company's 'teenage basketball team made its 55th start of the season yeseerday afternoon at Burgess gym. The Furnacemen have a tentative contest slated for tomorrow at 2 p. m.

The team roster was reduced to seven last week as Dick Brown, who had tallied 259 points for a 10-point average, dropped from the quint. The team scoring as of Monday was as follows (averages in parentheses):

Phil Knight 268 (7.4), Bob Adams 230 (8.0), Dennis Anderson 185 (5.6), Mario Generelli 124 (20.7), Dennis Thomas 121 (3.6), Steve West 80 (3.3), Pat Melvin 33 (16.5). As a team, Menlo Furnace had posted a 29-25 record and had scored 1762 points for a 38.3 average going into yesterday's tilt.

Generelli tallied 27 points and Melvin potted 23 last week as the Furnacemen took their second straight from the East Palo Alto Athletic club Pelicans, 63-37. Generelli potted 18, Anderson 12 and Melvin 10 the previous week as the Furnacemen notched a 63-51 win over the Pelicans.

Willow Youth Rec Group Considers Building Changes

Members of the Willow Youth Center association met Monday night to consider changes in the floor plan of their proposed building, suggested by the Menlo Park recreation commission, and agreed to continue their efforts to raise funds for the structure.

The association will continue to raise funds through sale of memberships in the association, Mrs. Victor Mott said yesterday, rather than rely on the outcome of a bond issue called for in the city's proposed master plan—as, if and when the master plan is passed.

Memberships are now on sale and may be purchased through Harry Caplan, DA 3-1104.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Mott said, members of the association agreed to submit suggested changes in the building's floor plan to the architect, to ascertain whether they could be made easily.

The building, 36-by-60 feet, is proposed to be built on the Willow school grounds, and is to be designed to house activities of such young people's groups as the Boy Scouts and others.

Polio Case Found In Menlo Park;

A single case of poliomyelitis was reported from Menlo Park during June, the San Mateo county health department announced in its monthly bulletin this week.

Reporting the case, the health department observed that, county-wise, the polio situation is "normal" to date. The case is the twelfth to be reported thus far this year.

There were 17 cases of the disease reported in the county during the first six months of 1951; eight during the first six months of 1950; 18 cases during the first six months of 1949 and four during the first six months of 1948.

Turning to other matters, the department's report listed other diseases reported from here: There were 15 cases of chicken pox, two cases of German measles, two cases of gonorrhea, one case of measles, 12 cases of mumps, one case of salmonellosis and one case of syphillis reported from Menlo Park during the month.

In Atherton in June, there were four cases of communicable disease reported. These included one case each of mumps and salmonellosis and two cases of chicken pox.

East Palo Alto reported one case of chicken pox, two cases of measles and two cases of mumps.

Temple to Dedicate New RC Unit Site

Dedication of Temple Beth Jacob's new property in Redwood City will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday, it was announced this week by Dennis Woodman, president of the congregation.

Dr. Harris Hirschberg will officiate at the rites.

The new site, situated in Sterling terrace near Woodside road, will be the site of the temple's proposed educational unit.

Eventually, Woodman has stated, plans call for moving the temple from its present site, 690 Creek drive, to the Redwood City location.

Book Given in Memory Of Dr. Marcussen

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of Rochester, New York, have presented the Menlo Park branch of the county library with a copy of Dr. Karl A. Menninger's book, "The Human Mind," in memory of the late Dr. Robert M. Marcussen. Mrs. Davis is Dr. Marcussen's sister.

The volume has been placed among the library's noncirculating reference books, Mrs. Vera Johnson, librarian, said this week.

Dr. Marcussen was himself a student of Dr. Menninger at one time. He was a Menlo Park city councilman at the time of his death Easter morning of this year.

Miss Susan Gale To Retire After 32 Years on Job

Miss Susan Gale, a lifetime resident of Menlo Park, retires today after 32 years as an employee of what is now the American Trust company's Palo Alto branch.

L. Polk Dodson, manager of the branch, announced the impending retirement earlier this week. He added that a testimonial dinner at the Menlo country club has been arranged for the veteran employee.

Miss Gale's retirement, however, won't mean inactivity. Though retiring because she has reached the age of 65, she has many things left that she wants to do.

For one thing, she's been collecting recipes through the years, and intends to try them out. For another, she will keep her bookkeeper's pencil sharp by aiding her sisters, Mrs. Margaret Doughty and Mrs. Dorothy Redding, in the operation of their meat market here. Both of the latter women reside near the family's home at 417 Glenwood avenue.

The family home, incidentally, was one of the first to be built "east of the tracks" in Menlo Park. It was built there well before the turn of the century by A. W. Gale, Susan Gale's father.

Mrs. A. W. Gale, widow of the builder, still presides over the household. Besides herself and Susan Gale, the house is still home to the retiring bank clerk's brother, Walter Gale. Another sister, Mrs. Alida Moore ,also resides nearby.

OFFICIATES AT SERVICE

The Rev. Thomas McKeon, pastor of the Church of the Nativity of Menlo Park, officiated at Catholic services at the San Mateo county Boy Scout council's Camp Pomponio Sunday morning.

Incorporation to Be Studied

Woodside Leaders Named to Seek Means to Guard Residents' Interests

Incorporation of Woodside will be just one means of protecting the interests of Woodside property owners to be considered by a new permanent committee under the chairmanship of Dennis Hession of Godetia road.

The committee was set up Monday night at a mass meeting held in the Mounted Patrol grounds near the Old Country Store.

Some 200 persons gathered in the grandstand beside the arena shouted a unanimous "aye" to the slate of eight committee members and eight alternates proposed by a nominating committee.

Allen L. Chickering Jr. of Woodside road presided as temporary chairman at the open-air meeting from a card table set up at the foot of the grandstand. He reviewed background for the new organization and then called on Sam W. Campbell of Mountain Home road, chairman of the nominating committee.

EIGHT DISTRICTS

Campbell said his committee had divided the Woodside area into eight geographical districts for purposes of representation and had chosen a committee member and alternate from each district. The names proposed were as follows:

District 1: Ralph P. King, County road; alternate, Parker F. Wood Jr., Canada road.

District 2: Hession; alternate, Furber Libby, Godetia road.

District 3: John F. Brooke Jr., Whiskey Hill road; alternate, Edgar D. O'Brien, 2180 Stockbridge avenue.

District 4: John G. Baldwin, 959 Mountain road; alternate, Mrs. Walter Whitney Boardman, Whiskey Hill road.

District 5: George Willard Somers, Mountain road; alternate, Richard E. Morton, 3763 Woodside road.

District 6: Vernon E. Kimball, 984 Albion avenue; alternate, William L. Lowe Jr., Albion avenue.

OTHERS WELCOME

On motion of James V. Neuman, member of the temporary committee, the new group was unanimously authorized to appoint additional members to the committee from areas not included in the eight districts who wished to take part in the committee's actions.

Campbell reported funds received by the committee to date totaled $709.05. This amount had been raised, he said, from contributions requested on the basis of $1 per acre.

It was unanimously voted that any resident of the Woodside area should be welome to membership in the organization for the fee of $1 if they owned less than an acre.

Hession, who was not present, was elected chairman of the new group in a caucus meting of the members. Kimball was named vice-chairman, and Flood was named secretary-treasurer.

Arbuckle Named To School Post

The trustees of the Greersburg School District of Woodside unanimously voted for the appointment of Ernest Arbuckle to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of William Wallace Mein. The appointment was made last Thursday, July 24.

Arbuckle, who lives on Woodside road, has been a resident of Woodside for the past fifteen years. He has four children, two of whom attend elementary school. He is a graduate of Stanford university and served in the last war as a naval officer with overseas duty.

Mr. Arbuckle is director of Travelers' Aid society in San Francisco and is also assistant vice president of the W. R. Grace and company in San Francisco.

The members of the board of trustees who made the appointment are King Harris, Edgar Norris, Ben Eastman, Mrs. William Wilke and Mrs. Ruby Ralston.

NEW ARRIVAL

A daughter was born July 25 to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Becker of Stanford Village.

Scientists estimate that the earliest Indian occupation in the San Francisco bay region at about 3500 years ago.

'58 Per Cent of Owners'

Petitions Filed to Protest Plan For Widening of Santa Cruz Avenue

Two petitions protesting proposed widening of Santa Cruz avenue westerly from University drive were filed yesterday morning in the city hall.

One petition protested a planned assessment district to finance part of the project and contained, according to E. M. Davidove, one of the circulators, 48 signatures representing 58 per cent of the affected property.

The other petition, signed by 199 persons, protested "that portion of the projected master plan which contemplates the immediate widening of a portion of Santa Cruz avenue, and the future widening of all of Santa Cruz avenue."

Davidove told the Recorder that the petitions did not represent opposition to the master plan as such.

The petitions declared that the proposed widening would create additional traffic and encourage greater speed, thus increasing rather than solving traffic problems, that the proposal would increase hazards by running "an arterial highway" through a residential area and past Hillview school, and that the plan is "contrary to accepted good traffic engineering.

PLAN ANNOUNCED

The city on June 10 announced its proposal to make the avenue a 56-foot pavement between University drive and Hermosa way and to install sidewalks and gutters as far as Arbor road, with gutters alone the remainder of the distance.

City Engineer Edwin H. Smith estimated assessments would run from $6.19 to $2.50 per front foot along the various sections of the project, with an additional $100 per lot assessment for areas that would be affected by simultaneous storm drianage installations.

Property owners, responding to a city council invitation to discuss the plan at its June 24 meeting, voiced vigorous protests.

Also circulating the two petitions with Davidove was Jack Ross, 1258 Santa Cruz avenue.

NPA Residents' Group Meets Tonight At Willow School

Discussion of the possible posting of signs to discourage trucks of more than two tons from entering certain North Palo Alto streets from Bayshore highway and proposed revisions in the city's master plan are to be discussed tonight at a regular meeting of the Belle Haven Residents' association.

The meting, which is to convene at Willow school at 8 p. m., was announced by Herbert Sahlberg, president of the association.

Sahlberg added that other items before the meeting will be discussion of possible recommendations to place before the city's water commission, in view of the complicated water supply setup in North Palo Alto.

The association will also seek the opinion of those present on the proposed raising of minimum lot sizes from 5000 to 7000 square feet, as proposed in the master plan.

Other matters will include discussion of the proposed Willow Youth center and the problems of double sessions in the Ravenswood school district.

Match Your Garden and Its Planting To Time You Can Spend on Upkeep

By TERRY LEE

It's the upkeep!

Almost without exception, planning and planting is accompanied with enthusiasm. It is not uncommon for much of this enthusiasm to wear off as soon as spring planting is finished, and for most of it to have evaporated before August.

Maintenance is no less important than planting, and certainly the largest part of having a garden. The best prescription for a good garden is for the owner to take a walk around his property every few days.

The ultimate satisfaction from the hobby of gardening lies in how the garden looks and what it produces. What does it matter if the chore of the moment is planting or upkeep?

People always find time for planting, and often for more than they can maintain with comfort during the summer. Therefore, planting should be governed by the amount of time a gardener is willing to spend on his chores.

Ten hours, more or less, are about as much as any one person can devote to a garden each week, and still allow time for the claims of other interests and people.

SELECTION NECESSARY

An average of ten hours a week for gardening means that some selection among the possible kinds of planting is essential.

Consider the lawn. Each mowing of a quarter-acre of lawn requires approximately two hours with an 18-inch hand mower, plus a little trimming and edging. Then, too, a lawn requires even more time for feeding, seeding, weeding, spiking. A watering program (turning on sprinklers and moving hoses) may take 30 minutes, although the actual watering time is much longer.

Of course you can pay someone to mow and clip the lawn and spend those two or three hours on a special love like roses or vegetables. I have a friend who loves and cares for 100 rose bushes. They require about 100 hours of work from March to December, or about an hour a week, half of which is spraying and the other half cutting flowers, picking beetles, and other minor attentions.

There is extra work when the bushes must be pruned, fertilized, mulched, and the new ones planted.

I prefer to work in my small vegetable garden, which takes about three hours a week after the heavy work of digging and planting is done.

So many timesavers have been introduced in the last five years that a vegetable garden is no longer drudgery. There are all-purpose sprays, new tools, and above all, more vigorous and disease-resistant varieties of vegetables to plant.

HOW CAN I?

By LYNN CARTER

Q. How can I dry a wet book?

A. Do not dry near a fire or it will warp. If water has been spilled on a cherished book, place some blotting paper on each side of the wet leaves and press with a moderately warm iron, treating each leaf seperately. Then the leaves will neither warp or wrinkle.

Q. How can I prepare cabbage sauce?

A. Cabbage sauce is excellent when served with broiled fish in place of the usual tartar sauce. It can be made by shredding finely ½-head cabbage and mixing with 2 chopped green peppers, 1 cup diced celery, 3 tablespoons chopped nuts, 1 cup boiled dressing, and 4 tablespoons chili sauce. Chill for several hours before serving.

Q. How can I relieve perspiring hands?

A. Try applying two or three times a day, or at least nightly, an astringent lotion consisting of one part boracic acid to twenty parts of water, and then dust with talcum powder.

Each of the buildings includes its own carports, driveways and laundry facilities so that it may be sold independently of other buildings in the project. Sale price of a typical four-unit building is quoted at $48,500, offering an estimated average net return of 11% on capital invested. Complete prospectus is available at Menlo Park offices of Claude T. Lindsay Company or Magnuson & Florence, Inc., Realtors.

First units of the luxurious new Linfield Oaks Patio Apartments in Menlo Park are now ready for occupancy, according to a joint announcement by owner-developers, Claude T. Lindsay Company and J. R. Simon & Co.

Each firm is building a group of two-story, four and six unit apartment buildings covering several oak-studded acres along Waverly Street in Menlo Park's exclusive Linfield Oaks residential section.

Rentals from $110

A variety of plans are already available with rentals from $110 for a one-bedroom unit and $125 for a two-bedroom unit.. Rental includes carport and storage locker. Each unit has fireplace and outdoor terrace.

Patios and Fireplaces

Individual outdoor terraces, fireplaces and picture windows in each unit of the new Linfield Oaks Apartments will enable residents to enjoy a type of apartment living never before available on such a scale in the Palo Alto, Menlo Park, Atherton area. Interiors of most units will resemble a small home. Private entrance, living room, dining room, patio and kitchen are on first level with two bedrooms and bath upstairs. Adjoining buidings include carports, laundry facilities and storage lockers.

Garden Upkeep...

A flower border 8 by 50 feet will require approximately one hour's attention per week from April through October, with an extra six hours in the spring and fall.

Time can be cut if perennials are the backbone of the garden. I have cut this by substituting flowering shrubs for background flowers.

There are shortcuts for every type of planting. Mulching is one of the best, and if applied in July will eliminate weeding and cultivation, lessen watering, and provide fertilizer. Weeds in the lawn can be eliminated by simple spraying. The best shortcut is good sharp tools.

Groundcovers save the extra trouble of mowing slopes, or trying to establish a lawn in shaded areas. Daylilies or marguerites will fill the flower border and require no special care. Such shortcuts are a form of good management, and increase the enjoyment of the garden.

GARDEN CALENDAR
July 31 to Aug. 6

With vegetables and flowers in bloom, it is important to keep watch in the garden and harvest all that is ripe. It is also a good time to note what is lacking and what is too much. I have benefitted this year with only two hills of squash and room for four pepper plants.

* * * *

Nip off the tender tips of new shoots on chrysanthemums and asters. This will double the number of flower clusters to a plant, and is a fill-in job to do while strolling through the garden.

* * * *

If early planted petunias and snaps are wandering all over the garden, cut the plants back to about six inches and you'll have a fall bloom. This is essential with shasta daisies.

PAYING TAXES

Sacramento. — Insurance companies doing business in California will pay $29,215,416 in taxes in 1952, a record assessment surpassing 1951's previous all-time high by $3,932,695, George R. Reilly, First district member of the state board of equalization, states.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Add Interest to Dining Room By Treating with Decoration

By Ertta Haley

DINING ROOMS used to be mousy affairs: you put the table in the center of the room, surrounded by chairs, a buffet with a picture or mirror above it and, of course, a rug on the floor.

No longer does the dining room have to be just a utilitarian room used only for meals. It can and should have a special place in the affairs of the family, much more than just a place to have meals.

Thus, new and interesting dining rooms have come into existence. Smartly planned and decorated, a dining room can be used for several activities, and, at the same time, be an asset to the decorative scheme of your home.

If you're planning to re-vamp the dining room, the first thing to do is to stop thinking of it as just the place for meals. Do you need a sewing room? a place to listen to music? a corner for a hobby collection? Dining rooms can, and rightfully so, house one of these special interests.

Harmony is essential in any decorating scheme, and continuity in the decorating scheme is important if the home is to have a well-balanced and agreeable look. This doesn't mean that your colors and furnishings will be the same from one room to the next, but at least there should be a feeling that they are part of the same pattern. After all, they're rooms in the same home, and, more important, used by the same group of people.

The place where your dining room is, in relation to other rooms, should have an important bearing on how it's decorated.

Colors from the living room or hall can be brought into the dining room by means of walls, draperies, rug, upholstered pieces or dining room chairs.

If the dining room is not separated from the living room by walls, as is often the case in many of the new homes, the rooms can be tied together very dramatically by all-over carpeting. However, this is not at all necessary since you may want to separate the one room into two units, so use carpeting only in the living room and a fluted or other interesting type screen to separate the one room into two.

It's becoming more and more a thing of the past to purchase dining room furniture as a unit or a suite. In some lines you can select a suite and be lucky enough to have it meet your requirements, but often it's wise to buy the pieces singly.

The important thing to remember is that the furniture does not have to match. There should be a general harmony about it, but tables and chairs do not have to match, and neither do sideboards, cupboards or other pieces.

If you have to economize on funds, your saving can be in the dining room table. You can even paint an old table with good lines in a positive color to take care of this item.

If yours is going to be a dining room which is lived-in as well as dined-in, the dining room should be treated as an extension of the living room. This means grouping the furniture comfortably in groups.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. When a young unmarried woman introduces herself to someone, does she speak of herself as Miss Jones or as Mary Jones?

A. Socially, she says, "I'm Mary Jones." In business, she says, "I'm Miss Jones."

Q. Isn't it all right for a bride to telephone her thanks for wedding gifts received?

A. Never, under any circumstances, should she thank friends for wedding gifts by telephone or in person. A personal note should be sent promptly upon receipt of each gift.

Beauty at Home

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do about spotty, blotched, or freckled hands?

A. Your hands need a good bleaching, and you can do this with one of the mild bleach creams available at cosmetic counters. Follow carefully the directions for its use. Apply often — but do not leave on overnight.

Q. What is the cause of open pores in my complexion?

A. Usually, poor blood circulation. Use astringent lotions, applying with cotton pads by patting vigorously over face and throat. Rub ice, wrapped in cotton, over the skin.
